From Your Heart, To the Heart of The Student, To the Heart of the Patient, Leaving A Mark

Jason Madachy was a caring, outgoing, and giving person with a passion for medicine and social contribution. He believed that every person had the ability to make a difference in the world. Jason was a member of Sigma Pi and Phi Delta Epsilon, and it was through these organizations that he did most of his service and philanthropy. Jason graduated from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) in May, 2007, and was set to begin his medical career at the Marshall University Joan C. Edwards Medical School in Huntington, West Virginia. On June 9, 2007, Jason's life tragically ended while on vacation with his family. Although he never had the opportunity to follow his dream, he did leave his mark on the lives of those who knew him. Jason's love and compassion lives on through all of the students who receive a stethoscope in his honor.
